

MIDDLEBURG, CASEY COUNTY.

—A shower of rain sufficient to stop the forest fires, fell here Friday morning.

—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Van gave an entertainment here Wednesday night, but we have not found anyone willing to acknowledge that he was present.

—Our old friend J. H. McWhorter, since moving from his wilderness home in Lincoln county, has become an expert in the treatment of the diseases of cattle. Some weeks ago, Spears Fisher was grieving over the prospects of losing his $75 Jersey cow, when John Hansford as he is more familiarly known, happened along, and took the case in charge and soon had the cow on her legs. Spears was so delighted, that he went about publishing the wonderful cure, and now Mr. McWhorter is sent for, far and near by those having sick cattle, and is talking of going into the business for a livelihood.

—It is only one week to the election and democrats should allow no grass to grow under their feet for the next few days. Everything is in good shape and this is going to be a democratic year in Casey if we continue to work. Casey should do herself proud by giving George Stone a handsome majority. He has more sense than Adams and Colson combined, besides he has never sought office at the hands of the people, while Adams has been in office almost ever, since he had an existence in the world, and if he ever did anything to commend himself to the people, his most intimate friends can not recall it. He should be given a rest, while a meritorious young man fills his place.

—Rev. G. C. Smith has announced himself a candidate for justice of peace in this precinct, subject to the will of the people expressed at the polls on Nov. 6th. He became offended at the ruling of Squire J. A. Wall in a suit in which he (Smith) was defendant, and has sought this plan to get even with the Squire by dividing the democratic vote to allow Staton, the republican candidate to defeat Wall. Bro. Smith is a Baptist, and so are we, and therefore we feel at liberty to advise with him a little. If he will stick to the business for which he has spent much time and possibly means to prepare himself, parts of our county now destitute of the gospel, will probably be enlightened on the subject of the Bible.

This is the way the Glasgow Times talks: "Democrats! Hang your coats on the ground. Roll your shirt sleeves up to your Adam's apple. Go in. Go in to win. Bear yourselves like men. Force the fighting all along the line. Hustle. Hustle. Get a move on yourself and keep moving till November 7. There will be plenty of time to sleep then, and your dreams will, peradventure, be more pleasant if you do your whole duty as good democrats and good citizens now."

—Mr. McKinley says we have not yet reached a point where protection is not needed. The Ohio treasury, under his administration, reached that point some time ago. Empty vaults need no protection.—St. Louis Republic.

—News from all over the Third District shows that the democratic party has a splendid organization, and it is predicted that Mr. McElroy will defeat Dr. Hunter by at least 1,500 votes.

—Colson gets the eagle, but Adams retains the coon. Now let Stone roll over and crow over 'em both.—Louisville Times.

Jon—Reading Job last Sunday we came across these familiar quotations:—

—Miserable comforters are ye all.

—I am escaped by the skin of my teeth.

—When the morning stars sang together.

—Oh that mine adversary had written a book.

—The joy of the hypocrite is but for a moment.

—Who is he that will strike hands with me?

—Their tongue cleaved to the roof of their mouth.

—Ye are the people, and wisdom shall die with you.

—Darkeneth counsel by words with out knowledge.

—Man that is born of woman is of few days and full of trouble.

—The Immigration Conference took practical steps in the selection of an executive committee, which elected Col. J. Stoddard Johnson as its executive head, with authority and the assurance of the means to establish a Bureau of Immigration and set systematically about the work of securing immigrants.

—A Tennessee negro traded his mule for a razor.

"I would rather trust that medicine than any doctor I know of," says Mrs. Hattie Mae, of Chilton, Carter Co., Mo., in speaking of Chamberlain's Cough, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

TO THE REPUBLICAN VOTERS

Of the Eleventh District of Kentucky.

Do not be misled or deceived by any false statements to the effect that I have withdrawn, or will withdraw from the race for Congress. I am on the track to be voted for on November 6th 1894, and I earnestly ask my friends to come out and vote for me. As you well know the rule ordering a primary election was illegal; only a partial primary election was held, and that in violation of law, an injunction, of which I was the victim, having been issued against it. No election was held in the counties in which I was strongest, and in all the counties of the District my friends generally refused to vote in obedience to the injunction. I want it well understood that I was in no way concerned in the injunction that was secured by Hon. John D. White. After the call for the primary was made and I had acquiesced in the action of the committee, I desired the primary to proceed, and I am confident that had such election been held I would have been declared the nominee. I paid in my proportionate share of the primary expenses, for which I received no benefits and am coolly informed by the Chairman of the District Committee that none of the money I paid in will be returned to me. What has become of the money that was to have been expended in the nine counties in which no primaries were held? My friends will see from this how I have been wronged and defrauded, and how my friends were prevented from expressing their choice as to their Representative in the 54th Congress. I am no bolter. My republicanism cannot be questioned. No man publicly, or privately has charged me with being a liar, nor have I gone over the District making false statements about my opponents. I wear no man's collar, and if returned to Congress will serve you faithfully and fearlessly, and will not have to sell out to reimburse myself for money expended in the canvass trying to deceive the people. To the brave soldiers of my old regiment and to the gallant soldiers who served with me during the late war, I appeal for support and earnest work at the polls. I have never said that "the old soldier racket was played out," but have always given the ex-soldier my faithful service, and will continue to do so if I am favored with your suffrage. If you desire to vote for me, and the county nominees of the republican party, all you have to do is to stamp the cross (X) under the Eagle, and also in the square opposite my name under the coon.

Your attention is invited to section 1471, new statutes relative to the manner of voting which says:

Provided however, "That if a cross mark (X) be made in the large square including the device of such party, and a cross mark be also marked in the square after the name of one or more candidates of a different party or parties, the vote shall be counted for the candidate so marked and not for the candidates for the same office of the party so marked, but the vote shall be counted for the other candidates under such party name or designation."

D. G. Colson is not the nominee of the republican party, but is sailing under false colors, and is a humbug and an impostor. I was never charged as a common liar, as Colson was by Hon. John D. White before a large audience at Somerset, Ky., on the 23rd of Oct. Colson not only failed to resent this insult but said "I take it." When Mr. White replied "You have to take it." I dislike exceedingly to indulge in personalities, but as a mean, dirty campaign has been conducted against me, I have to fight the devil with fire. I have served you faithfully in the past and will continue to serve you, if I am re-elected. Thanking you for your past confidences and asking you to vote for me November 6, I am yours truly,

SILAS ADAMS.

OF A LOCAL NATURE.

An innovation at Manhattan Beach is the engagement of Culhane's Famous Minstrels and they are warmly received at each performance. Will E. Culhane is a clever artist and he has surrounded himself with some of the finest people in the minstrel profession. The programme is varied and made up of novel acts, entirely free from vulgarity and coarseness, and the costumes are costly and attractive. The management of Manhattan Beach is to be congratulated on securing such a clever company of artists.—Denver News, Aug. 1.

An Appeal to the Prohibitionists.

(To the Editor of the Interior Journal.)

DEAR SIR:—I beg a small amount of space in your paper to make a short appeal to my prohibition brethren as to how we shall cast our votes in the county race.

Our party stands for good morals and good homes, if it stands for anything; and to-day we find ourselves without a single candidate in the county race, brought face to face with the burning question as to what party, if I may use that term, we will support. Shall the party that prides itself for its high moral ideals itself with a party confessedly composed of nearly three-fourths negroes and some whisky men, men who have no homes worth caring for and no property to defend? Or shall we cast our suffrages with a party composed of men of our own race, who pay taxes and have something to live for? The white element in the republican party, if there is one, in this county, for it comes into notice occasionally, may be as wealthy and as intelligent, with as fine morals as the democrats, too, of the same number; but as every one knows a bucket full of clear water thrown into a muddy river will not clarify it; so a few moral, upright men can't make a party like the republican party in old Lincoln a clean and safe party to trust our homes and property to.

So fellow prohibitionists, let us cast our strength the 6th of November with the party of morals and men, and help to keep old Lincoln under the dominion of the men of our own race and thus sustain the democrats in their efforts to present pure, clean men who have in the past shown that they will see the laws enforced without fear or favor. As to the democratic nominees, I say vote for them and show both parties how easy we can beat a bad party, or how necessary it is for good men to be put up for office to be able to win. I have taken more space than I intended to, and I ask all who vote to come out and vote for the best ticket ever put up in Lincoln. AN OLD PROHIBITIONIST.

—It is stated that Mrs. Cleveland has consented to christen the new steamer St. Louis, which is being finished at the Cramp shipyards in Philadelphia. The exercises occur Nov. 9, and a large party of St. Louisans will attend. The vessel will be presented with a magnificent dinner service, valued at nearly $20,000, paid for by popular subscription from the mercantile houses of St. Louis.

—In excavating near Col. Cottrell's farm at Cumberland Gap, seven feet below the surface, workmen found a case containing 25 Enfield rifles. The case was stamped "John H. Morgan, 1863," indicating that the rifles had been buried there 31 years ago by the famous Southern officer. They are in a perfect state of preservation, and are not even rusted.

—The United States government has offered a reward of $250 each for the bodies of 14 bodies of the Cook gang desperadoes. As the railroad and express companies of Indian Territory are zealously co-operating in the effort, it is expected that the gang will soon be extinguished.

—There died in Washington last week a man who, in his lifetime, it is said, had handled more money than any other person in the world. He was William Barnes a clerk in the Treasurer's office. In one day $60,000,000 in money had passed through his hands.

—Stephen Easer, a young man of Hicksville, O., in a fit of temporary insanity cut his left arm off with a dull hatchet and was cutting away one of his legs when he fainted from loss of blood. He can not live.

—Henry Starks, sheriff of Marshall county, has been arrested on a charge of bastardy preferred by Mrs. Elmira Green, a young widow. Starks is a candidate for reelection and alleges he is being blackmailed for political purposes.

—President Cleveland returned to Washington after an absence of eight weeks. While in New York he saw none of the democratic leaders and gave out no expression of opinion on the subject of the State campaign.

—The long expected rival of the Whiskey Trust has at last been chartered under the laws of New Jersey. It is called the Great White Spirit Company, with capital of $5,000,000.

—Circuit Judge Helm, of Newport, has rendered a decision forbidding either of the republican factions in Campbell county to use the eagle as a device on the official ballot.

Every mother should know that croup can be prevented. The first symptoms of true croup is hoarseness. This is followed by a peculiar rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given freely as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even after the cough has developed it will prevent the attack.

—We can not see how a person who never washes his feet can have the gall to attend church. On a certain night, at a certain church in Lancaster, some one turned the stomachs of the congregation on one entire side of the house of worship. This fellow may have a home in Heaven, but we venture to say he will have to mend his ways before he can enter the Pearly Gates.

Sunday night every available space of the church was occupied by eager listeners and they were delighted with one of the best discourses of the series. Mr. Crabtree has learned the beauty of brevity and his sermons never exceed 30 minutes. He does not waste time in tedious introductory remarks but goes at once to the heart of the subject and discusses it with great power and effectiveness. The meeting will continue until further notice.
